SMALL DOSES

Louis Gaebel, of Henderson, has leased Hotel Madison at Madisonville.

The death toll in the Texas hurricane is still increasing as later reports come in. The total is now about 260.

A man named Reidelheimer, at Vincennes, Ind., has petitioned the court to Americanize his name into Reeds.

If any of the Republicans feel inclined to "go up in the air" over anything orated at the Fair Grounds today, an airplane will be available.

The Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor, of Louisville, a business man, is busy trying to explain some of his dealings to the High Cost of Living Investigators.

Emma Goldman and Alex Berkman, anarchists whose prison terms will soon expire in New York will at once be re-arrested and held for deportation.

A New Jersey woman left a trust fund of $1500 to support her parents. The income of $7.50 a month will hardly supply all of Polly's demands for crackers at present prices.

Policemen who are sworn to support the Constitution of the United States and strike while in uniform should be classed as deserters and tried by martial law.

Z. T. Wong of Shanghai is a student in the United States Military Academy at West Point, being the only Chinaman that has entered there in the past two years.

Col. George W. Bain, Kentucky's pioneer temperance orator, who has been at it for fifty years, will speak at Madisonville Sunday night. The old man has lived to see his dream come true.

Paducah police have been notified by W. W. Wolfe, of Jerseyville, Ill., to keep watch for his wife and daughter, 10 years of age, who left home several weeks ago to become members of a party traveling from town to town as gypsies.

Henry B. Porter, Boston, told the United Temperance meeting in New York that radical agitators are to blame for the unrest throughout the country and are spending thousands of dollars in propaganda to inspire hatred of employers by employees.

A car was dynamited on Fern Creek line, Louisville, Tuesday. No one was injured, though part of the front platform and windows were smashed. Night service is being maintained for a few hours on a Broadway line.

Fifty-five Kentuckians sailed from Brest on board the transport Mount Vernon last Wednesday and are expected to arrive at New York today. It was learned at the War Department, they are members of the 10th Repair train.

Although Dr. E. L. Powell, pastor of the First Christian church, received a threatening and unsigned letter as a result of his sermon Sunday, in which he scored labor organizations, he declared he is not in any fear of physical violence and dismissed the subject with "it's only one of those communications whose cowardice is indicated by its very anonymity."—Courier-Journal.

Candidate Morrow has announced a list of men and women he would appoint if by any hook or crook he should be elected Governor. As nearly half of them are from Louisville and only one nearer Western Kentucky than Bowling Green, he is evidently not expecting much from this end of the State. The First and Second Districts will give 15,000 to 20,000 majority for Black.

Campbell Farm Is Sold.
The W. H. Campbell farm, south of town, was sold at auction Tuesday at the courthouse door by Joe McCarroll, Sr., the executor. It was bought for a whole for $23,100 by W. B. Collins. It was first offered in two tracts and this way brought $20,050. The farm contains 171 acres.

Dr. Chiles Dead.
Dr. J. G. Giles, of Trenton, Ky., died a few days ago. He is survived by five children, one of them Mrs. R. T. Daniel, of this city. He was 87 years old.

MISS NOE WILL SING OCT. 3

HOPKINSVILLE'S OWN TALENTED OPERATIC SINGER TO APPEAR HERE

IN A BENEFIT PERFORMANCE

For the Building Fund of Bethel Woman's College By Special Arrangement.

Miss Emma Noe, who has achieved fame as an operatic singer and whose wonderful voice has charmed audiences in many of the large cities, is coming to her own home town to sing for the first time.

It recently came to the knowledge of the Trustees of Bethel Woman's College that Miss Noe had one or two open dates for the coming season and steps were at once taken to secure a concert in which the people of Christian county could hear the gifted star.

The Kentuckian is pleased to announce that arrangements have been concluded and Miss Noe will appear in concert October 3 at the Tabernacle, under the auspices of a committee of ladies from the Alumnae Association of Bethel College. Miss Noe will bring her own accompanist.

Mrs. Lillian Waller Chatten, a member of the Alumnae Association, has kindly tendered her services as a reader and will doubtless be heard in some of her own poems. The presence of these two entertainers, both of whom have met with signal success in their chosen lines, will give the people an opportunity to show their appreciation of their talents and at the same time render aid to a most deserving local institution that has been aroused from a long period of inaction and has the finest prospects in all its history.

Additions have been made a heavy expense and the proceeds of Miss Noe's concert will be used to supply needed equipment.

Details, prices, etc., will be announced in a few days.

"Sound the Jubilee"—What It Has Accomplished.

What part had the Woman's Christian Temperance Union in bringing to pass National Constitutional Prohibition.

At every Jubilee meeting over the ratification of the Federal Prohibition amendment glowing tributes have been paid to Woman's Christian Temperance Union, referred to by speakers as "Our Mother" in the prohibition work. This, our organization, in very truth has been.

The mighty faith and heroic self-sacrifice of the women of the crusade swept over the nation like wildfire and was the forerunner of the organization of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Every woman joining pledged herself to total abstinence, to the temperance training of the children and to constant agitation against the liquor business.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union blazed the trail for moral and temperance legislation in legislative halls and in Congress. In February, 1875, Frances E. Willard presented to Congress a huge petition asking for National Constitutional prohibition, and never has that work been slackened.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union has a broad foundation that includes many phases of social services. Taking a unique motto, "For God, for Home, and Native Land" and later, enlarging it to "For God, and Home, and Every Land," it early established departments of work in a "do everything" policy which makes great responsibilities obligatory in the protection of home and country. Because of this, the Jubilee Program plans are made.

Mr. Shelia Park Street and Miss Dorothy Grinter Jefferson were married in Cadiz Wednesday evening at the Methodist church and left on a western tour. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McConnell, of this city, attended the wedding.

GREAT OUTPOURING OF PEOPLE WILL ATTEND DEMOCRATIC RALLY AT FAIRGROUNDS

Fires Were Started Yesterday To Barbecue More than 125 Head of Sheep and Hogs to Feed the Multitude

Enough For Everybody

Thursday and Friday Aviators Combs and Harrison Billed the Surrounding Towns, Flying In All Directions And Dropping Handbills.

STRONG ARRAY OF SPEAKERS HERE

Today is the time for opening the Democratic campaign for State officers with the biggest barbecue and all-day speaking ever held in this part of the State.

It has been well advertised far and near and as a finishing touch, the Army Aviators, Harrison and Combs, who landed in the Cowherd field several days ago were induced to remain until today. Thursday and Friday they were engaged to distribute bills from their Curtiss airplane and flew over all towns within a radius of 50 miles, dropping bills as they passed. It took them only 1 hour to go out to Pembroke and return Tuesday morning. They then took several flights in other directions the same afternoon. Yesterday they went westward, making Cadiz and other towns.

During the noon hour today, the aviators will be at the Fair grounds and give an exhibition and will take up passengers at the customary price of $15.

The barbecue will be served at the Fair ground, rain or shine, as there are many big barns suitable for placing the tables if the big floral hall should not be large enough. More than 100 carcasses have been provided and the barbecued meats and other good things to eat will be enough for all.

There will be music by Lebkuecher's Band and a constant flow of oratory. There will be speakers of National reputation both morning and afternoon.

The list will embrace Gov. Black, Gov. J. M. Cox, of Ohio; Senators Beckham and Stanley and Congressman Kinchloe, Barkley, Heflin, of Alabama, and Hardy, of Texas. Practically all of the Democratic nominees will be present and some of them will speak.

A shower yesterday morning caused some apprehensions of rain for today, but it did not last long and preparations went ahead all day with no let-up.

The various committees have their work well in hand and everything will be done to add to the comfort of those on hand. Among the early arrivals were Mat S. Cohen, the present commissioner of Agriculture and nominee for Secretary of State, and Morgan O. Hughes of the Agricultural Department.

HARRY NEAL IN CHICAGO

Willie Grace, 13-Year-Old Girl Who Left With Him Still With Him In Boy's Clothing.

Willie Grace, daughter of Mrs. Birdie Pitzer, of Ovill, Ky., has been located in Chicago in company with the man Harry Neal, with whom she disappeared from her home last June. Neal came to the Pitzer farm April 30 with another man, both claiming to be war veterans. They were traveling in a truck and claimed to have lost their way. After a few days the other man left and Neal remained to work as a farm hand.

Late in June Mrs. Pitzer came to town and reported to the police that on June 23 Neal and her two children went to the plant bed to draw tobacco plants and had not been seen since.

They were her children by a former marriage, the girl being 13 and the boy, Oscar Grace, only ten years of age. They were barefooted and poorly clad. Mrs. Pitzer sought to have Neal arrested on a charge of abduction. She had sent out postal card descriptions and the officers have been working on the case.

Information came Tuesday of the arrest of Neal in Chicago. The girl was with him dressed in boy's clothing and her age was given as 15.

Sheriff Cliborne wired the Chicago officers to hold Neal as he has a warrant for him. He gave the name of Benj. Sheets and also of George Neal.

Mrs. Pitzer, the mother of the girl, was seen yesterday afternoon by a Kentuckian representative and said that her son returned home Aug. 14 from the vicinity of St. Louis and reported that Neal and his sister were occupying the same room in a boarding house, Neal passing the girl off as his wife. She said the girl was only 14 years old on June 26. She also said Neal lived by stealing and that he was now under arrest in Chicago for stealing and she "guessed" she would go and get him when the officers there got through with him. She declined to state whether she would prosecute him under the Mann white slave law but said there was no doubt that he was living with her daughter as man and wife.

Albany, Ky., Sept. 18.—Edwin P. The seven are Dr. W. A. Ganfield, president of Centre College, Danville; Dr. Frank Sprague, head of Sprague Sanitarium, Lexington; Edward W. Hines, Louisville; Fred M. Sackett, Louisville; Mrs. Lafon Riker, president of the Kentucky Federation of Woman's Clubs, Harrodsburg; Clarence U. McElroy, Bowling Green, and Mrs. Alice Hegan Rice, Louisville.

How Is It Here?
One of the large retail meat markets in Evansville has announced the following new schedule of prices:

Pork shoulder was 28 cents, now 27 cents; pork loin was 34 cents, now 33 cents; bacon was 35 cents to 37 cents, now 33 to 35 cents; beef sirloin and steak was 26 cents, now 25 cents; beef roast was 19 cents, now 18 cents; Picnic ham was 29 cents, now 27 cents.

City Bred Squirrels.
City workmen who cut down a large Water Maple tree at the corner of Main and 17th streets, that was obstructing the flow of water in the gutter made an unusual find. The tree was dead in the top and in the dead part they found a hole occupied by an old squirrel and five young ones, able to take care of themselves. They got into other trees and made good their escape.

A grocer in Uniontown, Pa., inserted this ad in his local paper: "It takes the joy out of life and sweetness out of the sugar to announce a price of fifteen cents a pound. We have 5,000 pounds to distribute at that price. The sugar cost us a little more than 14 cents a pound. Our books are open to you. You may see where we bought it, so that you will know that the profit we are making hardly justifies the handling. We regret the necessity of being forced to sell sugar at this outrageous price."

The Department of Commerce notifies us that the government is making ready to take humpback eggs on the Pembroke river. For fear our friends at Pembroke may go hunting for their river and examining their eggs, it is due to state that Pembroke river is in Maine and the eggs are those from humpback salmon fisheries.

With four years' service on the battlefield and three wounds to his credit, Clarence S. Schmittie, Fillmore, Ind., formerly a member of the famous "Black Patch" organization, Tuesday, enlisted at the Lexington army recruiting station for three years' service in the infantry in Alaska.

The American Legion is getting up a home-coming in Evansville and advertises for "pretty girls to man the booths." They will do all right if they get them pretty enough and plenty of them.

The Senators who are still fighting the League, find themselves in the same attitude and about as conspicuous as the monkey that climbs a pole to show off.

The Evansville Courier says the exposition people saved $11 per hundred by buying their lumber out of town, saving about $4,400. They bought it from a company in Mississippi.

A special correspondent traveling with Senator Hiram Johnson, in his trailing tour, says he convinced an audience at Sioux Falls that he was right and the President wrong.

Defective Camouflage.

"Teacher" had gone to the movies with a bachelor who chose young as associates as a sort of camouflage for his own age. The next morning she received the following greeting from one of her pupils: "Oh, teacher, I saw you at the show last night. Was that your papa with you?"

D'ANNUNZIO HEADS REVOLT AT FIUME

Officers Disarmed and Union of Fiume and Italy Is Proclaimed.

Geneva, Sept. 16.—Gabriele d'Annunzio, supported by the forces of Arde, which accompanied him into Fiume, has proclaimed a union of Fiume with Italy, according to advices received by the Serbian Press Bureau here from Belgrade.

Fiume was plunged into anarchy the advices declare, when the Brigade of Italian troops which previously had evacuated the city, returned without officers, ejected the local authorities and arrested the Italian General Pitaluga.

The British and French troops in Fiume, the message states, barricaded themselves within their quarters expecting to be attacked, while the crowds in the city tore down the allied flags.

The Serbian authorities, it is added, still remain in the suburb of Sušak, which is isolated.

D'Annunzio is the well known poet who served as an aviator in the Italian forces during the war. Fiume—pronounced Fe-u-my—is the city claimed by Italy but not allowed her

WITH THE RED CROSS

Twenty miles farther north than Archangel is the location of an American Red Cross hut recently opened in Siberia. This was established to take care of the American forces in Russia while demobilization was in progress.

Since the armistice, the American Red Cross commission for Belgium has distributed 1,300,000 francs to repatriate refugees; 1,000,000 francs for fighting soldiers and civilians; 1,250,000 francs for destitute children; 1,200,000 francs for fighting tuberculosis, 120,000 for military hospitals and 50,000 for building houses in Termonde, where 7,000 are living in the ruins of their devastated homes.

American Red Cross in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick has been so revised that it is now adaptable for High School instruction, and many schools in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky are planning to add the course this fall.

An I. W. W. crowd on the outside beat on the doors while the people on the inside were cheering the speech of President Wilson at Seattle. At Tacoma, Portland and other places large crowds showed great enthusiasm. The man who introduced him in Portland said Oregon was "20 to 1 for the league."

The yield of burley tobacco in Kentucky this year is estimated at 56,000,000 pounds.

Misses Anne Bell Rowena Yost and Mae Northern have gone to Randolph Macon College.

THIS WEAK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. J. WORTHLINE, 2824 North Taylor St., Philadelphia Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression, and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Worthline.

Girl Kills a Wolf In Den.

Richmond, Mo.—Rosa Mae Bowers 16 years old, has duplicated the wolf den feat to which Gen. Putnam, the Revolutionary War hero, owed part of his fame. She crawled into a wolf den near here and killed a mother wolf with a revolver. Then she captured the five young wolves. She brought the little ones to town in a barrel and sold several of them for $3 each, besides the bounty she will receive from the State and county authorities. Miss Bowers has never missed a day at school all winter and has won a prize for the highest grade made during the term.

SUGGESTED APPORTIONMENT

For the 42 Churches of Bethel Baptist Association in 75 Million Campaign.

At a meeting of the Executive Board held in Hopkinsville Sept. 8 1919, it was decided to recommend to the Association that the apportionment of $450,000 in the 75 Million Campaign be accepted and to further recommend that the several churches be advised of what their apportionments would be, based on a per capita which is $66.50 on 6800 members. The table below has been figured on that basis and submitted for the information of the churches with the request that each church be prepared to act in the matter of fixing the apportionment at Guthrie October 1, the second day of the Association meeting. Many churches will ask for more in order to go over the top and help the weaker churches. Each church is expected to report through its messengers how much it will be able to assume in this greatest work Baptists have ever undertaken.

The names of the churches, the number of members and the apportionment are given below:

BLIND BOY IN NEW MEXICO SELLS MULE TO AID DRIVE

Blind, residing on a New Mexico ranch far from a railroad, and having no property which he can call his own, save a mule, a young boy who has heard of the Baptist 75 Million Campaign is preparing to sell that mule and give half of the proceeds to the campaign, Dr. L. R. Scarborough General Director, announces.

"One of the most cheering letters I have had since the campaign was launched came from this blind boy whom I baptized eleven years ago," Mr. Scarborough says. "The letter is written in rather poor hand, on cheap tablet paper, but it is eloquent with the love of a soul that is completely surrendered to God. Ten years ago the boy lost his sight completely, but he did not give up on that account. He writes to tell me three things: First, that he is going to sell a mule, the only property he has, and give half of the proceeds to this campaign; second that he is praying for the success of the campaign and third, that God answers prayer. God is not going to deny a faith like that. I knew when I read the letter that the campaign would succeed."

Virginia Preacher Accepts. Dr. Finley G. Gibson, of Richmond, Va., will become pastor of the Walnut Street Baptist church, on October 1. Announcement of his acceptance of the call recently extended was made by R. C. Bowden, chairman of the pulpit committee of the church.—Louisville Post.

Auction Sale

SEPT. 25, 1919

Thompson's Loose
Floor 2 p. m.

In addition to the property listed in the full page advertisement in this issue, we have added the following to be included in our big Auction Sale to be held at Thompson's Loose Floor Sept. 25, at 2 p. m.

Suburban Home

Located on North Main street outside corporation limits, next door to the County Sheriff J. J. Cliborne. This property fronts 75 feet on Main street and runs back taking in about three acres of land. Has nice five-room cottage, beautiful yard, good stable, poultry house, rabbit house, city water in the yard, also at the stable. Will make you a splendid home if you want to live just outside of the city limits where you can raise chickens, hogs and truck. YOU ought to look this property over so you will know on the day of the sale just how much you will want to bid on it. You wait around until the day of the sale to look it over and you won't have time to give it due consideration. We don't want you to buy it if you don't want it, but if you do want it we want you to know what it is.

Three More First Class Suburban Lots

Adjoining a piece of property listed in full page ad as No. 2. These lots have a frontage of 55 feet, more or less, on Main street and run back 182 feet, close to town but not inside corporation. City water and every convenience can be had. If you want a vacant lot on North Main street, why wouldn't you investigate and buy when you can do so at your own price? Or will you wait until somebody else buys them and go and offer them a profit?

E. 7th Street Lots

Just above the Belmont School—across the street. These lots have a frontage on Seventh street of about sixty feet each and almost directly across the street from the Yost home. You know Seventh street is one of the best residence streets there is in Hopkinsville. You cannot hardly buy a vacant lot on it at any price.

Look at these lots before the sale and be prepared to bid.

Do not forget this sale will begin promptly at 2 p. m.

Get your FREE tickets—$300 in merchandise to be given FREE in this sale.

Watch the windows for special bargains. Inquire of the following merchants what one of these free tickets will buy. You will certainly get your $50.00 worth at any of the stores that have a big card in the window. We are paying for it and want you to get good values: J. H. the Princeton High School.

The first scrimmages of the local football season were held on the High School gridiron during the past week. The continued hot weather has interfered to some extent, but Coach Radford reports that the workouts so far show that there is an abundance of good material, which can be whipped into a winning team.

The first game of the season takes place on Saturday, September 27th, when the High School plays Princeton High on the local grounds.

The line-up of the team in the first game will probably be selected from the following men:

Center—Capt. Cantrell, D. Garrott.

Guards—Tom Wood, Major, Tandy, Fort.

Tackles—Capt. Cantrell, Campbell, Robt. Rives.

Ends—J. Garrott, W. Radford, Wm. Ellis, H. Wood, L. Sacks.

Quarter—Steele, Hooe.

Halves—Dabney, Croft.

Fullback—Hanberry, Acree.

The team will be somewhat heavier than usual, averaging nearly 150 pounds per man.

CITY TAXES.

City taxes for the year, 1919, are now due and payable at my office in City Hall, and if same are not paid before October 1, 1919, interest will begin to accrue thereon at the rate of 8 per cent per annum, and if same is not paid before December 1, 1919, a penalty of 6 per cent, flat, will be added.

Taxpayers are urged to call and settle at once and avoid the rush and the payment of penalties.

WHAT EVERY FARMER SHOULD KNOW

Every farmer knows that soil should be pulverized because plants can get no nourishment out of lumpy, cloddy land. Sometimes farmers have been compelled to plant in this kind of land on account of short help or on account of lateness of season or other conditions. Every farmer should know that the Oliver Double Gang Pulverizer Will Remove These Conditions.

No Lumps Escape This

Implement. It crushes every clod brought to the surface by the plow, it will dig deep and pack the soil from the bottom of the furrow.

This pulverizer makes an ideal seed bed. Prevents blowing and prevention of Winter killing. One farmer in Christian county says, "It is Worth $100 per acre on every acre of land it is used on."

This Cultipacker has Bronzed Bearings, Hard Oil Cups, Dust Proof Caps and Stiff Steel Frame. Ask us for catalog or come in and see this pulverizer.

the Republican ticket.

"In the flour investigation it was found by the commission that Ballard & Lazard Co. sold flour as far South as New Orleans at $0.00 and $1.10 a barrel less than they would sell it to the Louisville trade.

"When Mr. Ballard was called before the commission he admitted that his company sold flour cheaper outside, but contended that it was sold in carload lots and for cash and therefore it could be sold for less money. Mr. Ballard was not willing, however, to agree to sell at the same price in the Louisville market, even for cash. He did offer to make a reduction of 40 cents on a barrel, provided Louisville retail merchants would make a like reduction of 40 cents, which would mean that a reduction of 80 cents would be given to the consumers of Louisville.

"I do not consider Mr. Ballard's proposition fair. I believe in Louisville and the people of Louisville and Kentucky, and I am of the opinion that Mr. Ballard should show people of Louisville and Kentucky the same consideration he is showing people of adjoining States."

The above statement was made by M. B. Kendrick of the Investigating Committee of the KENTUCKY HIGH COST OF LIVING COMMISSION.

CHAPTER XXIII—News of George's injury turned Eugene's thoughts more entirely upon Isabel. Never had she seemed so near him, and he calls on a spiritualistic medium. There he has communion with what he believes to be Isabel's spirit. She urges him to "do his duty." George is silent. Never, ressentiment mounting. Going to the hospital to visit the unfortunate youth Morgan finds Lucy at the bedside. The plight of the young man and the pallor of his face gives him such a wonderful resemblance to Isabel that the old hate is banished and George's plea for forgiveness is readily accorded by both Lucy and her father.

Her name is from a hell and from amber. She is laughing and waving a lace handkerchief at me because she is pleased. She says I have made you know who it is.

This was the strangest moment of Eugene's life, because, while it lasted, he believed that, Isabel Amberson, who was dead, had found means to speak to him. Though within ten minutes he doubted it, he believed it then.

His elbows pressed hard upon the table, and, his head between his hands, he leaned forward, staring at the commonplace figure in the easy-chair. "What does she wish to say to me?"

"She is happy because you know her. No—she is troubled. Oh—a great trouble! Something she wants to tell you. She wants so much to tell you. She wants Lopa to tell you. This is a great trouble. She says—oh, yes, she wants you to be—to be kind! That's what she says. That's it. To be kind."

"Does she—"

"She wants you to be kind," said the voice. "She nods when I tell you this. Yes; it must be right. She is a very fine lady. Very pretty. She is so anxious for you to understand. She hopes and hopes you will. Someone else wants to speak to you. This is a man. He says—"

"I don't want to speak to any one else," said Eugene quickly. "I want—"

"This man who has come says that he is a friend of yours. He says—"

Eugene struck the table with his fist. "I don't want to speak to any one else, I tell you!" he cried passionately. "If she is there I—" He caught his breath sharply, checked himself, and sat in amazement. Could his mind so easily accept so stupendous a thing as true? Evidently it could!

Mrs. Horner spoke languidly in her own voice: "Did you get anything satisfactory?" she asked. "I certainly hope it wasn't like that other time when you was cross because they couldn't get anything for you."

"No, no," he said hastily. "This was different. It was very interesting."

He paid his way to his hotel and nothing George could do would ever change this bitterness of Eugene. Only George's mother could have changed it. And as Eugene fell asleep that night, thinking thus bitterly of George, George in the hospital was thinking of Eugene. He thought of Eugene Morgan and of the Major; they seemed to be the same person for awhile, but he managed to disentangle them and even to understand why he had confused them. Long ago his grandfather had been the most striking figure of success in the town: "As rich as Major Amberson" they used to say. Now it was Eugene. "I had Eugene Morgan's money," he would hear the workmen day-dreaming at the chemical works; or, "If Eugene Morgan had hold of this place you'd see things hum!" And the boarders at the table d'hôte spoke of "the Morgan Place" as an eighteenth-century Frenchman spoke of Versailles. Like his uncle, George had perceived that the "Morgan Place" was the new Amberson mansion. His reverie went back to the palatial days of the mansion, in his boyhood, when he would gallop his pony up the driveway and order the dark stablemen about, while they whooped and obeyed, and his grandfather, observing from a window, would laugh and call out to him: "That's right, George. Make those lazy rascals jump!" He remembered his gay young uncles, and how the town was eager concerning everything about them, and about himself. What a clean, pretty town it had been! And in his reverie he saw like a pageant before him the magnificence of the Ambersons—its passing, and the passing of the Ambersons themselves. They had been slowly engulfed without knowing how to prevent it, and almost without knowing what was happening to them. The family lot, in the shabby old quarter, out at the cemetery, held most of them now; and the name was swept altogether from the new city. The Ambersons had passed, and the new people would pass, and the new people that came after them, and the next new ones, and the next—and the next—

He had begun to murmur, and the man on duty as night nurse for the ward came and bent over him.

"Did you want something?" "There's nothing in this family business," George told him confidentially. Even George Washington is only something in a book."

Eugene read a report of the accident in the next morning's paper. He was on the train, having just left for New York, on business, and with less leisure would probably have overlooked the obscure item:

LEGS BROKEN.

G. A. Minafar, an employee of the Akers Chemical company, was run down by an automobile yesterday at the corner of Tennessee and Main and had both legs broken. Minafar was to blame for the accident, according to Patrolman F. A. Kax, who witnessed the affair. The automobile was a small one driven by Herbert Cottlemen on 213 Noble avenue, who stated that he was making less than four miles an hour. Minafar is said to belong to a family formerly of considerable prominence in the city. He was taken to the City hospital, where physicians stated later that he was suffering from internal injuries besides the fracture of his legs, but might recover.

Eugene read the item twice, then tossed the paper upon the opposite seat of his compartment, and sat looking out of the window. His feeling toward George was changed not a jot by his human pity for George's human pain and injury. He thought of George's tall and graceful figure, and he shivered, but his bitterness was untouched. He had never blamed Isabel for the weakness which had cost them the few years of happiness they might have had together; he had put the blame all on the son, and it stayed there.

He began to think poignantly of Isabel. He closed his eyes and saw her as she had been long ago. He saw the brown-eyed, brown-haired, proud, gentle, laughing girl he had known when first he came to town, a boy just out of the State college. He remembered—as he had remembered ten thousand times before—the look she gave him when her brother George introduced him to her at a picnic; it was "like hazel starlight" he had written her in a poem, afterward. He remembered his first call at the Amberson mansion, and what a great personage she seemed, at home in that magnificence; and yet so gay and friendly. He remembered the first time he had danced with her—and the old waltz song began to beat in his ears and in his heart.

All the way to New York it seemed to him that Isabel was near him, and he wrote of her to Lucy from his hotel the next night:

"I saw an account of the accident of George Minafar. I'm sorry, though the paper states that it was plainly his own fault. I suppose it may have been as a result of my attention falling upon the item that I thought of his mother a great deal on the way here. It seemed to me that I had never seen her more distinctly or so constantly, but as you know, thinking of his mother is not very apt to make me admire him! Of course, however, he has my best wishes for his recovery."

He posted the letter, and by the morning's mail received one from Lucy written a few hours after his departure from home. She inclosed the item he had read on the train and wrote:

"I thought you might not see it. I have seen Miss Fanny and she has got him put into a room by himself. Oh, poor Edes-Down-Everything! I have been thinking so constantly of his mother and it seemed to me that I have never seen her more distinctly. How lovely she was—and how she loved him!"

If Lucy had not written this letter he would have written to his train for home. Never did he so seem to move through a world of dream-stuff; for he knew that he was not more credulous than other men, and if he could believe what he had believed, though he had believed it for no longer than a moment or two, what hold had he or any other human being on reality?

His credulity vanished (or so he thought) with his recollection that it was he, and not the alleged, "Lopa," who had suggested the word "amber." Going over the mortifying, plain facts of his experience, he found that Mrs. Horner, or the subdivision of Mrs. Horner known as "Lopa," had told him to think of a bell and of a color, and that being furnished with these scientific data, he had leaped to the conclusion that he spoke with Isabel Amberson!

For a moment he had believed that Isabel was there, believed that she was close to him, entreating him—entreating him "to be kind." But with this recollection a strange agitation came upon him. After all, had she not spoken to him? If his own unknown consciousness had told the "psychic's" unknown consciousness how to make the picture of the pretty brown-haired, brown-eyed lady, hadn't the true Isabel—oh, indeed her very soul!—called to him out of his own true memory of her?

And as the train roared through the darkened evening he looked out beyond his window, and saw her as he had seen her on his journey, a few days ago—an ethereal figure flying beside the train, but now it seemed to him that she kept her face toward his

TERRIBLY SWOLLEN

Suffering Described As Torture
Relieved by Black-Draught.

Rossville, Ga.—Mrs. Kate Lee Able, of this place, writes: "My husband is an engineer, and once while lifting, he injured himself with a piece of heavy machinery, across the abdomen. He was so sore he could not bear to press on himself at all, on chest or abdomen. He weighed 165 lbs., and fell off until he weighed 110 lbs., in two weeks."

He became constipated and it looked like he would die. We had three different doctors, yet with all their medicine, his bowels failed to act. He would turn up a ten-cent bottle of castor oil, and drink it a few or three days in succession. He did this yet without result. We became desperate, he suffered so. He was swollen terribly. He told me his suffering could only be described as torture.

I sent and bought Thedford's Black-Draught. I made him take a big dose, and when it began to act he fainted, he was in such misery, but he got relief and began to mend at once. He got well, and we both feel he owes his life to Thedford's Black-Draught."

Thedford's Black-Draught will help you to keep fit, ready for the day's work. Try it!

"To be kind!" If it had been Isabel, was that what she would have said? If she were anywhere, and could come to him through the invisible wall, what would be the first thing she would say to him?

Ah, well enough, and perhaps bitterly enough, he knew the answer to that question! "To be kind"—to George!

A red cap at the station, when he arrived, leaped for his bag, abandoning another which the Pullman porter had handed him. "Yessuh, Mist' Morgan. Yessuh. You car waitin' in front the station for you, Mist' Morgan, suh!"

And people in the crowd about the gates turned to stare, as he passed through, whispering, "That's Morgan."

Outside, the neat chauffeur stood at the door of the touring car like a soldier in whipcord.

"I'll not go home now, Harry," said Eugene, when he had got in. "Drive to the City hospital."

"Yes, sir," the man returned. "Miss Lucy's there. She said she expected you'd come there before you went home."

"She did?"

"Yes, sir."

Eugene stared. "I suppose Mr. Minafar must be pretty bad," he said.

"Yes, sir. I understand he's liable to get well, though, sir." He moved his lever into high speed, and the car went through the heavy traffic like some fast, faithful beast that knew its way about, and knew its master's need of haste. Eugene did not speak again until they reached the hospital.

Fanny met him in the upper corridor, and took him to an open door.

He stopped on the threshold, startled; for, from the wan face on the pillow, almost it seemed the eyes of Isabel herself were looking at him: never before had the resemblance between mother and son been so strong—and Eugene knew that now he had once seen it, thus startlingly, he need divest himself of no bitterness "to be kind" to George.

George was startled, too. He lifted a white hand in a queer gesture, half-forsaking, half-implored, and then let his arm fall back upon the coverlet.

"You must have thought my mother wanted you to come," he said, "so that I could ask you to—forgive me."

But Lucy, who sat beside him, lifted ineffable eyes from him to her father.

"No, just to take his hand—gently."

and shook her head. "No, just to take his hand—gently!"

She was radiant.

But for Eugene another radiance filled the room. He knew that he had been true at last to his true love, and that through him she had brought her boy under shelter again. Her eyes would look wistful no more.

TO PROSECUTE PROFITEERS

If Retail Cost Is Not Lowered Within Reasonable Time Action Is Expected.

The fact that important decreases were on the local market some time ago in prices of hogs, and that the consumers of pork have not benefited as the obviously should, is receiving the attention of the Fifth District Investigating Committee of the Kentucky High Cost of Living Commission, which has sent Alfred Brandeis and P. H. Callahan, members of the commission to Washington to confer with Attorney General Palmer.

Local meat dealers have informed the committee that it will take some time to dispose of their old stocks bought before hogs were reduced in price, and have tried to explain the situation in this way.

It was learned today that if the retail price of meat does not go down within a reasonable period, action may be expected by the commission, co-operating with the Federal authorities.

Mr. Brandeis and Mr. Callahan will inquire at Washington as to every law designed to deal with all sorts of profiteers, including the one with "teeth" which President Wilson is expected to sign shortly.—Post.

STANLEY EXPECTED TO ANSWER MORROW

Washington, Sept. 14.—If Edwin P. Morrow, Republican nominee for Governor of Kentucky, challenges Senator A. O. Stanley to a joint debate on the latter's administration as Governor of Kentucky, friends of Senator Stanley here say he will be only too glad to accept the proposal.

Whether such a debate takes place or not, the friends of Kentucky's junior Senator believe he will prepare a strong defense of his policies while at the mansion in Frankfort, and that he will present this defense of his administration and reply to Mr. Morrow in a speech to be delivered in Kentucky next month.

Sees Menace of Bolshevism In Rule By Organization Responsible to No Law.

Public sentiment is turning strongly against the strike in Louisville that is so seriously interfering with Louisville's fall trade after all but ruining the State Fair.

The Rev. E. L. Powell, pastor of the First Christian Church, scored the labor union in his Sunday night sermon at the church in the following words: "Starting right, the labor union has grown to be an irresponsible organization, clothed upon with such power in the industrial world as German autocracy never possessed."

"The labor union is not subject to any law of the land. It cares for itself first and last and the public may make the most of it," said Dr. Powell. "The spirit of the labor union as at present constituted may be summed up in such quotations as the following: 'My allegiance to my country becomes subordinate to my allegiance to my union.'
